Emotional Management and Support for Migrant Women

2021-1-DE02-KA220-ADU-000033610

Equator and next steps of the EMMW project - 3rd transnational meeting in Brussels (Belgium)

As we have explained in our previous newsletters, EMMW is an Erasmus+ project for developing a training plan for the purpose of developing and managing emotional skills in the frame of the immigration, reaching both female migrants and social workers and NGO with the aim of improving their risk situation in the adaptation and integration to a different country from that of their origin and, at the end, psychological well-being and the inclusion in the host country.

After the first transnational meetings in Cologne (Germany) and Cordoba (Spain), it was the turn of the Belgian city of Brussels. There, the partners were able to exchange opinions and different approaches to the project, seeking to improve the different results.

One of the first decisions taken was to close PR1 once the required number of responses to the self-assessment tool had been reached. The results can be seen in the individual national reports and in the common report, which is already available on the project's social media and will soon be available on the website.

Regarding the theoretical modules of the PR2, they are in the final phase of checking and translation and will soon be available to interested parties; in this way, social workers will have a series of tools and information to improve their social skills to face the challenges they must face daily in their work.

Finally, and following the scheduled timetable, the consortium has started work on the PR3 Digital ToolBox, with online tools to assess social workers' knowledge of emotional intelligence, which is expected to be completed by next autumn.
